

LEXMEDICUS

Prof Justin Denholm

Infectious Diseases

BMed, MBioethics, M.PH&TM, PhD, FRACP

VIC

Melbourne - Brunswick West

Telehealth

Special interests

COVID-19 | Infectious Diseases | Tuberculosis

Accreditations

- American Medical Association Guides to the Evaluation of Permanent Impairment, 4th Ed.
 - Haematopoietic System
 - Infectious Occupational Diseases
 - Industrial/Haematology
- WorkSafe, TAC & Wrongs Act Impairment Assessor
- Joint Medical Examiner
- WorkCover Tasmania Accredited Medical Practitioner

Qualifications

- Bachelor of Medicine, Newcastle University, NSW
- Master of Bioethics, Monash University, VIC
- Master of Public Health and Tropical Medicine, James Cook University, QLD
- Fellowship of the Royal Australasian College of Physicians
- Doctor of Philosophy, University of Melbourne, VIC
- Master of Health Administration
- Associate Fellowship of the Royal Australasian College of Medical Administrators

Experience

- Professorial Research Fellow, Department of Infectious Diseases, University of Melbourne, VIC
- Medical Director, Victorian Tuberculosis Program, VIC
- Epidemiologist and Operational Researcher, AusAID
- Infectious Diseases Epidemiologist, Victorian Infectious Diseases Service, VIC
- Staff Specialist Infectious Diseases Physician, Victorian Infectious Diseases Service, VIC

Professional associations

- Member, Medical Panels Victoria
- Member, Justice Health/Department of Health and Human Services Communicable Diseases Working Group
- Chair, Ethics Advisory Group, International Union Against Tuberculosis and Lung Disease
- Scientific Advisory Committee, Department of Foreign Affairs and Trade
- Associate Editor, International Journal of Tuberculosis and Lung Disease
- Past Chair, Australasian Tuberculosis Forum
- Member, Guidelines Development Group for the Management of Latent Tuberculosis Infection, WHO
- Member, Expert Advisory Group on Therapeutics, Royal Australasian College of Physicians
- Fellow of the Royal Australasian College of Physicians
- Associate of the Royal Australasian College of Medical Administrators

LEXMEDICUS

Contact us: info@lexmedicus.com.au // 1300 633 453